The street fair is over, now for a sweeping Republican victory in November, then at Thanksgiving, a little later, we will all sure have a plenty to be thankful for—even the Democrats.

Mr. WADE, of Springfield, a canning factory expert, was here looking over this field last week. There is certainly no better location for a canning factory than Versailles. The very best of tomatoes can be raised here in abundance. Such an enterprise would add thousands of dollars to the incomes of our farmers, merchants and laborers. They yield an average of about $50 per acre. It gives employment to a small army of women and children during the dull season of August and September when they could find no other employment; it pays the stockholders a good percent on their investment, and gives the merchant a large increase in trade. It is a benefit to all classes.
If a factory is to be put in here for next season it is time to be at work, and have the matter settled, so the farmers can make their contracts and arrangements for a crop.

An Aggravation.

Last week we nearly worked our toe nails off to get forms up and ready for press Tuesday, and everything was right just after dinner, but no paper, the railroad company had forgotten us. We had the program of the Kansas City Presbytery up, which we were compelled to set out and borrow county court proceedings from the leader to fill its place. We had printed two hundred extra premium lists to go with two hundred extra copies of the REPUBLICAN for distribution during the fair. Wednesday we stood around sucking our thumbs and waiting—no paper. Thursday morning we decided to wait no longer and printed a half sheet. Now wasn't that hard luck! We figure a loss of $25 and no remedy. If the railroads don't, won't or can't do better than this we will be in line with Bryan on public ownership, or else ship our paper by boat up the Missouri and Osage, and have it hauled over the hills by ox wagon, then we would know we would get it some time.

The Times is for the home merchant against the mail order house every time, but we believe that the home dealer ought to help himself in the fight—and that is by advertising. Advertising is the secret of the success of all mail order houses, and it is just as good for the small dealer. This paper has been fighting the mail order houses for some time and we believe our home merchants should back us up by liberal advertising.

SOME OF THE WINNERS.

Big Thursday at Our Street Fair, Rain Spoiled the Last Two Days, Home Features the Best.

Premium Winners in Poultry Show, Grain and Vegetable Exhibits and Art Hall Display.

The rain during the latter part of last week simply knocked the street and county fair into a cocked hat so far as the last two days were concerned. Thursday was the big day, as the largest crowd ever assembled in the city were present to enjoy the entertainment. The rain, of course, causing the remainder of the week to be a general disappointment to all.

The stock show, while the general entries were not crowded, was a credit to our county, and gave conclusive evidence that in horses and mules the standard of perfection is annually being raised, as there were numerous fine specimens of young stock in the arena, and the awards, which were made by judges who were unacquainted with the owners, were distributed as fairly as was possible, under the circumstances.

The fruit, grain and vegetable displays were magnificent, the poultry exhibit was fine, while the art hall, conducted by the ladies, was one of the best features of the fair. All in all, the home features connected with the entertainment were all that could be desired.

The carnival features proved to be a disappointment, as the major portion of the attractions were not calculated to interest the crowds to any great degree. The Amusement Association, having the matter in hand, did the best they could, however, and they have gained some experience in dealing with carnival companies by which they will profit, if occasion requires in the future.

Following are partial lists of winners having entries at the fair:

In the poultry show there were 38

There is existing with many people a wrong idea of The Keeley Cure—they think it makes one ill for a few days; or it destroys the mind at first or last; or that there are hardships connected with the treatment. In no case is this true.
There is a noticeable improvement from the start; the mind strengthens and recovers its normal condition and as the drugs or alcohol is eliminated a healthy condition is builded.
